

Gravel-haulers were warned by local officials in a statement on this page yesterday against driving by a stopped school bus. Yesterday's statement from the deputy prosecutor, sheriff, and state police remarked that one trucker had been fined and stiffer action will be taken if offenses continue.

The law governing highway traffic and school busses is the same all over the United States. If the school bus stops you stop — and you stay there until the bus starts up again.

This is one law that is absolutely no respecter of persons. A news dispatch last week reported that among state police arrests in New England for passing a stopped school bus was the state commissioner of education. He was crawling along in a fog, under the most extenuating of circumstances — but they fined him just the same.

And there's another traffic law that ought to be looked into by Hope city police. That is the regulation governing right-hand turns when the traffic light is red. Some cities don't permit it at all. Wherever it is permitted the driver must first come to an absolute stop, then start up again and make the right-hand turn.

Drivers who swing through a red light without stopping, even though they turn to the right, are just as guilty as those who drive through and don't turn — for they imperil the lives of pedestrians to whom the light has given right-of-way.

If you were to name one company in all America that spells wealth and power to the average citizen it would be United States Steel. And yet I made a strange and disturbing discovery while looking over its financial statement, which it and many other large concerns mail out to the newspapers every year.

U. S. Steel's assets and liabilities balance at 2 billion dollars. And yet, its current position — steady cash against immediate liabilities — is poorer than any of a score of small but respectable businesses in Hope.

"Big Steel" shows current assets of $1,212,720,207 against current liabilities of $877,802,623 — a ratio of only three to two. Any top-rated small concern is expected to show three to one or better.

I'm not suggesting that U. S. Steel is in trouble, but before you laugh I might remind you that the above figures explain America's oldest financial legend, "In steel everyone's a millionaire — until he's broke."

The big company owes immediately $2 for every $3 of cash, government bonds, accounts receivable, and inventory — and on this thin working capital it is running plant and equipment valued at 1½ billion dollars.

I don't envy men who have to carry stupendous liabilities on such a slim margin. It is a disillusioning picture, perhaps, yet it heartens one's faith in America — U. S. Steel, king-pin of industry, is as dependent on the country for solvency as the country is on it for hardware.

Once you open up a discussion of words, their duplications and redundancies, you run the risk sooner or later of catching a question that can't be answered. I thought I was cornered yesterday when the mail brought me this inquiry from my partner, C. E. Palmer, Texarkana:

"How about flammable and inflammable? I think these are two with practically an identical meaning and yet practically all of us use 'inflammable.'"

On this question Webster's Unabridged puts you over a barrel. The words are identical in meaning; they come from the same root — and the dictionary doesn't lift a hand in favor of one or the other. Here's the story:

Flammable (no origin given) Capable of being easily ignited; inflammable.

Inflammable (From the French) Capable of being easily set on fire.

Obviously both words are derived from the same source as "flame." This is from the Middle English "flame" or "flaume"; the Old French "flame"; the French "flamme"; and the Latin "flamma," akin to the Latin "flagrare," meaning "to burn."

This was the end of the road, of course — with no decision. But I was saved by a book which, ordered a month ago, came in on the same mail. It is "A Dictionary of Modern English Usage," by H. W. Fowler, Oxford University Press. He's the author of "The King's English."

Council Votes to Raise Pay of Policemen

Hope City Council last night raised the salaries of the police department, passed an ordinance setting up a bond issue and ordered the city attorney to prosecute all persons delinquent in paying monthly health fees.

The group voted to raise the pay of Police Chief to $275 per month, assistant to $250 and $240 monthly for all patrolmen. The increase is effective April 1.

An ordinance was passed providing for the issuance of water and electrical revenue bonds for expanding the municipal water and light plant. The bonds will total about $350,000 and were drawn up by the W. R. Stephens Investment of Little Rock.

A monthly fee for collection of garbage and other refuse is being ignored by many residents. The Health Department program depends on the funds. The council ordered the city attorney to take proper action for collection.

Another proposal to place advertising signs on downtown parking meters was passed.

In other action the council ordered an ordinance drawn up fixing the telephone company franchise tax at $1,250, a reduction from $1,500 and to levy an occupation tax on the Arkansas Louisiana Gas Company of $900 instead of $600.

The group purchased a commercial computer tank from Norman Moore. The tank will be installed at the Fire Station and will serve all city vehicles. It was decided to purchase city-used diesel fuel from various city dealers on a yearly basis. Purchase for the first 12-months were awarded to Norman Moore. After this period it will rotate to other dealers.

Bids for a new drag line are being accepted and will be opened on April 8.

Prisoners Cut Selves to Get Into Hospital

Memphis, March 19 (AP) — Two more Shelby County Penal Farm prisoners have sliced their heel tendons to gain admission to a hospital.

And they predicted last night that others will follow suit.

The two men joined five already in the prison ward of City Hospital with cut or partially cut Achilles tendons.

The new heel slashers are James R. Robertson, 21, and George E. Looney, 24, both of Memphis. Neither cut completely through the tendon.

Commissioner Rudolph Jones, who directs the penal farm, said he had heard all white members of a crew assigned to field labor planned the self-mutilation.

The men risk being crippled for life in cutting the tendon, although generally physicians can repair the damage.

Robertson told newsmen he had been assigned to farm labor although not physically fit. He also complained that the food was poor and he had been cursed by the guards.

Looney said his principal objection to the prison farm labor was that "one man is assigned the work of three."

Jury Committee Studies Report

Little Rock, March 19 (AP) — The Pulaski County Grand Jury's Law Enforcement Committee met today to begin looking into findings of the Arkansas Highway Audit Commission.

In its formal report, the HAC asked Downie and Atty. Gen. Ike Murry to take action if they found any criminal acts had been uncovered.

Son of Hope Man Drowns in Texas

Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Rogers have returned from Daingerfield, Texas where they attended the funeral of their son, Chester Rogers, an Ore City, Texas mail carrier, who drowned late Tuesday in Lone Star Lake near Daingerfield.

Dictionary, "The Pocket Oxford Dictionary."

He doesn't recognize "flammable" at all.

The correct word is "inflammable." I quote:

Inflame — "Inflammable," formed from the English verb and used in 16th-17th centuries, has been

Hundreds of GIs Wed Japs, Beat Deadline

Tokyo, March 19 (AP) — Hundreds of American servicemen married Japanese girls today — just in time to beat the deadline for taking their petite brides home to the United States.

James B. Pilcher, U. S. consul general, estimated the last-day rush of civil ceremonies at six consular offices increased the number of servicemen legally married to Japanese to about 8,000.

Servicemen had to be married by 2 p. m. today (midnight Tuesday, EST) to benefit from a law which enables them to take their Oriental brides to the U. S.

A few didn't make it. Chizuko Fukimoto, a nicely dressed plain looking woman, waited at the front door of the Tokyo consulate until 2:15 p. m. for her sweetheart to arrive from Korea. He never got there.

Ninety-five soldiers, sailors and marines were married today at the Tokyo consulate. Similar numbers stood beside their fiancées at consular offices in Yokohama, Nagoya, Kobe, Fukuoka and Sapporo and said, "I do" to this question:

"Do you solemnly swear that you are of legal marriageable age and there is no hindrance, legal or otherwise, to your uniting in marriage with this girl?"

That's all there was.

Some of the couples planned religious ceremonies later, but most did not.

Most of the bridegrooms were based in Japan. Some were on leave from Korea. A few came on furloughs from the U. S.

Air Force Cpl. John W. Amerson of Olympia, Wash., and Teruko Maekawa were the last couple married at the Tokyo consulate.

Many of the couples brought children. Some were born out of wedlock but most were born with the benefit of a Japanese marriage ceremony.

"I have to register my baby here," Air Force Sgt. George Miller of Cincinnati, told a State Department clerk after his marriage to a pretty Japanese. "He isn't even registered with the Japanese government, yet. He's three months old. He could just get lost and nobody would know it."

"While we were getting married — down there at the other court I had to stop and change his pants."

Trial of Reds in 25th Day

Los Angeles, March 19 (AP) — The federal conspiracy trial of California's 15 top Communists goes into its 25th day today, with indications its length may rival the nine-month New York trial of the party's national leaders in 1949.

Arguments on defense motions to strike testimony of the government's early witnesses will occupy today's court session.

The jury of eight women and four men has been instructed not to return until tomorrow, when the prosecution's fifth witness, as yet unnamed, will take the stand.

It has taken six full weeks to obtain the testimony of the first four witnesses in the case. Long reading by both sides, frequent objections by defense counsel, and illness and absences by several attorneys have combined to prolong the trial.

The government intends to present at least 35 more witnesses. The defense may counter with as many more, although it has not yet indicated its full strategy.

The 15 defendants are charged under the Smith Act of 1940 with conspiring to overthrow the government.

Convict Who Killed Couple Is Sought

New Haven, Conn., March 19 (UP) — Police throughout the East searched today for ex-convict Leroy Reddick, 30, in the bomb slaying of a woman and her husband, who refused a bribe not to testify against him in a shoe shine parlor holdup case.

Hooper Wright, 42, and his wife Ophelia, 41, were blown to bits yesterday when he stepped on the starter of their light pickup truck, which was parked overnight in front of the Wright home.

The truck had been booby-trapped with at least eight sticks of dynamite rigged up to the ignition system, police said.

Chief Howard O. Young said more than 50 persons have been questioned in connection with the double killing. Miss Eletha Strum, 20, described as Reddick's companion, was arrested on a technical idleness charge after police found books on physics and organic chemistry in her room.

The tragedy also brought about the disclosure that Negro Preston Anderson, 28, was arrested last week on a similar charge for attempting to bribe Wright.

Reddick was arrested and released in $5,000 bond Feb. 28, the day after he allegedly tried to take a $4,000 diamond ring from Mrs. Albert Smith, wife of the operator of a shoe shine parlor.

Wright was painting in the store at the time and he tossed a bottle of turpentine and a can of black paint at the gunman, scaring him away. Wright "fingered" Reddick as the bandit and was scheduled to testify against him in police court Friday.

"To the Democratic voters of Hempstead County, Arkansas: I, hereby, announce my candidacy for the office of Circuit Clerk. Most of you know me personally, as I have spent my entire life in Hempstead County, having lived in Hope for the past 42 years.

I realize that the Circuit Clerk's office is an important office, as it is in this office that most of the important records, including deeds, mortgages and Court records, are kept. ## Perhaps the Most Important Thing in U. S. Today Is Land — The Backbone of America

By HAL BOYLE
New York, March 19 (AP) — She stood, a small lady among taller men, and in her heart she laughed because she knew she was taller than they were.

She was taller than they were because she had more land. And in her heart she felt that land was power, because she trusted a lug on the cold floor when the pains came upon her and had a normal birth and a fine daughter all alone. Her other children waited in another room. She cut the cord of birth and blew warm breath upon the gold frame of her newborn babe.

The neighbor woman that Dan brought said with the exultation of all women:

"I knew you would do it. I knew you would."

Dan went into another room — he was a strong man — and wept.

In 1931 Dan gave up his long struggle against the weather and the land and died. He left Susan a widow with 10 children and about $20,000 in debt.

"Nobody set me a single bill," she recalls. "And, of course, they didn't really have to."

How about today? Well, the bank is ready to talk to Susan any time, back there in any town near Miles City. She's got the bail money ready for her lenders when they come for town after six months or so in the hills.

Oh, maybe there's 1,000 cattle or so now, and say 2,000 ewes and 1,400 lambs. But how about the spreading patch of Montana she controls?

"Well, of course now they are looking for oil that way out there," said Susan cautiously. "You know I just have no interest in people."

As Write-in Candidate Eisenhower Runs Close Second in Minnesota

Local Politics Beginning to Get Warmer

Like the weather local politics warmed up considerably today with three new candidates making known their intentions.

S. A. (Speedy) Hutson filed as a candidate for Hempstead Circuit Clerk, making two seeking the office. Garrett Willis, current tax assessor had filed previously.

In the district Andy Andrews, indicated he would file today for state senate, a position currently held by Dr. F. C. Crow who plans to seek another term. Both will probably be opposed by Nevada County Representative Silvey of Bodewau.

Lytle Brown of Hope, will seek the Circuit Judge Bench now held by R. C. Hute, who can't succeed himself.

Other candidates who have no opposition as yet are Talbot Plois Jr. for representative and Crit Stuart for tax assessor.

Although they haven't officially announced both Clint Sutton and C. Cook are running hard for county judge and sheriff, respectively. Sheriff Sutton is likely to draw opposition in U. G. Garrett while Judge Cook will probably have Milton Mosier as his opposition.

On the local scene Joe Britt filed today as a candidate for Alderman in Ward One, a job currently held by Joe Jones.

Mrs. Georgie Reed Succumbs at the Age of 75

Mrs. Georgie Reed, aged 75, died early today at the home of a daughter in Texarkana.

She is survived by a son, Price Reed of McNab; two daughters, Mrs. A. F. Bosley and Mrs. Mattie MacArthur of Texarkana.

Truman Won't Run in Event of Korean Peace

Key West, Fla., March 19 (AP) — Democratic National Chairman Frank E. McKinney said today that the possibility of President Truman's running for reelection will be "lessened" if there is a satisfactory settlement of the Korean War.

McKinney, who has just had two days of talks with Truman, told a news conference the situation is a "paradoxical one."

He was asked whether a settlement would lessen the chances of Mr. Truman seeking reelection.

McKinney replied: "In my opinion, it may, and that is the question."

McKinney said that if Truman does not run, the President will not attempt to dictate the Democratic nominee but will favor an "open convention."

McKinney also said the President will not make any announcement of his intentions to the former-Jackson dinner of the Democratic Party in Washington on March 20, but will "in ample time" for the July convention "to clear the way for other candidates."

McKinney said his own date for public words after the President is May 15, when the Democratic Executive Committee meets in Chicago to pick a nominee and other officers of the party.

McKinney said he thought but it is hoped the Korean situation can be settled by convention time or at an election time.

Dispatches from Moscow today said Communists now with the Red three delegations talking of a truce agreement three or four weeks. They reflect the views of Red officials.

There are some indications Truman has now taken charge of future political plans for himself and the Democratic Party.

McKinney, acting on Truman's orders, directed party officials in California to withdraw the candidate's name from that state's primary election (June 9).

Ike Backers See Another Call to Duty

Washington, March 19 (UP) — An anti-write-in vote in Minnesota was hailed by the general's friends today as another clear call to a higher duty.

Former Gov. Harold E. Stassen appeared to have won Minnesota's 28 Republican national convention delegates on the basis of incomplete presidential primary returns.

But scores of thousands of Minnesotans voted for Ike although his name was not on the ballot. They wrote it in.

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower won a moral victory in Minnesota. The delegates pledged to Stassen must vote for him on the first convention ballot unless released and thereafter unless his tally falls below 10 percent of the total.

The returns showed Eisenhower just about as popular with Minnesota Republicans as Stassen who three times was governor of the state.

The returns did not improve Stassen's position in the race for Republican presidential nomination although he apparently will get the delegates.

Sen. Robert A. Taft's supporters waved the Minnesota returns aside. Rep. George H. Bender (R-O.) said:

"It doesn't disturb me at all. We didn't make any drive in Minnesota. In fact, every effort was made not to have anything done there for Taft. We didn't want any contest there with the favorite son candidate, Stassen. On the other hand, Eisenhower people put on a presidential campaign for write-ins."

Ike is the favorite overseas and London and continental newspapers slashed the story of his unexpected Minnesota showing. E. A. Tamm's dispatches reported the general's coming hampered by the house as returns rolled in.

It was his second burst of good news within 24 hours. The first was announcement by Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll of New Jersey that he is for Ike. The general's delighted campaign managers and some observers said that's a sign Eisenhower is leading in the New Jersey presidential primary where he will be opposed by Senator Taft.

Sen. Frank Carlson (R-Minn.) said the Minnesota returns were further evidence that the people want Eisenhower to become the next president of the United States.

Carlson said the general's campaign managers were "not to be trusted."

Garden Time for Members of HD Clubs

HD means Home Demonstration. March, the beginning of spring, the time of year when everyone feels like getting outside and digging. A drive into the rural areas will show much digging has already been done.

Now is the time the Home Demonstration Club member is seeing to her garden; the rural homemaker "grocery store." From this garden a years supply of vegetables will go into jars and home freezers for next winter. From the homemakers berry vines and fruit trees will come her families supply of fruits, jams, and jellies. This month the home garden leader will be busy giving information on the best varieties of vegetables for freezing and canning, along with the latest releases from the Extension Service on expected yields of various truck crops in the Home Demonstration Club members locality.

The home grounds leader has been busy since last fall and certainly hasn't let up since spring is here. For now flowers, shrubs and lawns need attention. With expert knowledge gained at the University of Arkansas Experiment Stations, the Home Demonstration Club member knows what grasses to use on her particular soil, what shrubs will give her home the proper "frame," and instructions, in detail, for her flowers whether seed or bulb.

If you would like any or all of this information you may have it by calling the County Agent's office. Or better yet, join a Home Demonstration Club and enjoy the educational advantages which are yours for the asking.

Mrs. Jim Butler, Hope.
Mr. and Mrs. Warren G. Short, Hope, announce the arrival of a son, Warren G. Short Jr.

DOROTHY DIX

Possessive Husband

Dear Miss Dix: We have been married sixteen months, have a nice flat and furniture. My husband constantly reminds me that he owns the furniture and everything in the house; that nothing is mine.

I try to be good to him. I'm a good cook and housekeeper but I'm sick of hearing this story over and over. A few times he told me to pack up and get out. I left him, but when he begged me to come back and promised to change, I believed him. However, the change lasted for just two weeks. The way we are living I don't feel like a wife at all, and I'm not happy.

W.R.M.
Answer: Your husband evidently didn't pay much attention to the words of his marriage vows. "With all my worldly goods I thee endow." Marriage is a partnership, and everything brought into it, or achieved in it, should belong to both husband and wife. A man who puts such store by his material possessions that he's afraid to let his wife claim a piece of furniture is branding himself as a miser. Apparently he married you just to add a good cook and housekeeper to his possessions. Since, to him, marriage is a business proposition, you are entitled to wages for the work you do around the house. Demand it, and see how businesslike he is then!

Check Legal Rights
Your husband actually may not even be legally correct in his assertions of possession. Several states provide that furniture, etc., are partnership property, owned equally by husband and wife. It's quite possible that if you divorced your husband you'd be entitled to half of everything he owns. Since you didn't give me your address, I cannot advise more definitely on this point.

Judging from your husband's treatment, I'd say you were listed in his mind as a chattel along with the rest of the belongings. Modern women, who have learned to stand alongside their menfolk, sharing with them the full measure of prosperity and adversity, don't go for that position. You've been married only sixteen months, so presumably have many belittling years ahead of you! If the prospect fails to please, either insist on more equitable treatment or leave your misanthrope to his own devices.

Dear Miss Dix: My stepfather-to-be doesn't allow me to date boys. I like one boy in particular and would be satisfied to see him two or three times a week, even if he only came to the house to visit. I'm not allowed to go out with my girl friends. I'm 14, and the only child in the family.

JANE
Answer: Your mother is certainly losing an early grip on the reins of authority when she lets her fiancé exercise so much authority over you. You should be permitted to go out with girl friends, at least, provided you don't do so on school nights. One evening a week, either at home, at an early show or at a school dance, should be the extent of your boy dating for the time being.

Dear Miss Dix: Do you think a boy can show his love too much? I'm 16 and he is 17. We go to the same school and he calls for me every morning. He waits for me after every class, calls me up when I get home in the afternoon, and on Saturday and Sunday calls me about four times. Sometimes he talks for an hour.

W.M.
Answer: This surely is overdoing it. Your family must have infinite patience to let you monopolize the telephone so much. Few households would permit it. Tell your friend that you must leave the telephone free once in a while so the other members of the family can make of receive calls. Shift of hurting the boy's feelings, however, you can't do much about his mooning around at school. What kind of marks does he get, anyway, with so much romancing?

Snead Returns, Takes the Lead

Palm Beach, Fla., March 19 (AP)—Sam Snead, returning to tournament competition after a layoff of three months, led the way into the finals of the two-day Seminole Professional Golf Tournament today with a two under par 70.

The West Virginia slammer held a one-stroke lead over the field of 52 pros for the $10,000 pot after carding a steady 34-70 over the long, tough Seminole Club course.

Tournament officials had moved back the 7,000 to lengthen the layout past 7,000 yards and shifted the pins to the most difficult spots on the greens but Snead's flawless drives and iron shots put him in front.

John Revolta of Evanston, Ill.; Henry Picard of Cleveland, O.; John Palmer of Badin, N. C., and Fred Hawkins of El Paso, Tex., tied to second place with 71s. Ben Logan of Palm Springs, Calif., followed to third place with 72.

Jack Burke of Houston, Tex., who stunned the winter circuit with victories in four straight tournaments, had 75 to tie for 17th place and Cory Middlecott of Memphis, Tenn., second highest money winner behind Burke, took 78.

The tournament ends today with another 18-hole round.

Other guests included Ava Lou Garrett, Jane Kitchen, Virginia Cruise, Linda Gail Vandiver, Barbara Bright, Marion Buchanan and Ann Swindale.

Broadcast of Porker Games Indefinite

Plans for broadcasting the University of Arkansas football games this fall are still indefinite according to L. B. Tooley, manager of KXAR.

John Barnhill, athletic director of the University of Arkansas appeared before the winter meeting of the Arkansas Broadcasters Association Monday afternoon at Little Rock, for the purpose of discussing the broadcast situation.

According to Tooley, Barnhill explained that broadcast rights to all Southwest Conference football games are controlled by the Southwest Conference and that any arrangements for broadcasts in this state must be approved by that organization. Barnhill further stated that "After last summer's stacks of correspondence" he is determined, if at all possible, to offer every station in the state the privilege of joining the football network with each station carrying its share of the expense of broadcasting.

However this plan must meet the approval of the Southwest Conference at their meeting in May. Previous to several years, the conference has sold the exclusive rights to all games to one commercial organization. According to Mr. Barnhill's statements before the ABA, whether or not his plan for Arkansas is accepted, depends upon the conference's action.

Tooley also stated that Hope should be extremely proud of the record that Hope boys are making at the university. Particularly impressive were the numerous comments of leading businessmen in Little Rock concerning a speech by Buddy Sutton made at a banquet held in Little Rock last Saturday night honoring the football squad and following the second spring game. All comments offered nothing but high praise for Buddy's address as co-captain of the 1952 squad.

The California club had been lightly regarded because of the loss of George Yardley, the 1951 tournament's most valuable player, and other who wheeled the Stewarts to the championship. Don Henricks, former University of California star, slipped in 20 points in pacing San Francisco's well-blanced attack.

The Stewarts meet Portland, Ore., today.

Yardley, playing with a cast on his right wrist, made only 11 points as his mates from Los Alamitos, Calif., Naval Air Station doused Bedford, Ind., Kaler Kandy Kids 91-71.

If He Runs Truman Has His Reasons

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, March 18 (AP)—President Truman, if he runs again, has laid down the twin reasons on which he'll ask for re-election: prosperity and avoidance of world war.

In his almost seven years in the White House Truman has been belabored with criticism, which he says he shrugs off as an old story. He points to history and says it happened to other Presidents.

Asked to summarize the most important achievements of his administration, he says:

"We have prevented a Third World War. And we have kept the American economy on an even keel. The Russians had the idea that after 1946 we would explode and then the Russians could have had the world to themselves. We have managed to keep that from happening."

The statement is in a new book about the President, published today. The author, William Hollman, newspaperman and radio commentator, had a number of interviews with Truman, who also let him use his diaries.

Even if Truman doesn't run again, the Democrats probably will use his summary — prosperity and avoidance of world war — as the basis for any campaign they make with another candidate.

It is so broad it would enable them to face in many directions, pointing to high employment as an example of prosperity, and explaining many actions of the administration as part of a broad policy to avoid all-out war; the Atlantic Pact, arms for Europe, the stalemate in Korea, and even high taxes to pay for the arms and economic help.

In spite of the fact that he occasionally has strong fits of anger, the President has, or believes he has, a pretty calm and philosophic view of himself and history.

Hollman says Truman has made a special study of the criticisms flung at other Presidents, and quotes him as saying:

"I don't let these things bother me for the simple reason that I am trying to do the right thing and eventually the facts will come out. I'll probably be holding a conference with Saint Peter when that happens."

"I never give much weight or attention to the brickbats that are thrown my way. The people that cause me concern are the good men who have to take the brickbats for me."

"Our American political situation is about the same from generation to generation. I walk and swim and worry very little. I appoint people to responsible positions to worry for me. You have no idea how satisfactory that policy is."

Members of Ex-Cabinet Arrested

Cairo, Egypt, March 18 (AP)—Fouad el Din Pasha, a party strong man, was interior and finance minister in the regime of Premier Mustapha el Nashas Pasha. Hassan was social affairs minister.

No charges were filed against them immediately.

Egypt's prosecutor general, however, recently accused Serag el Din — whose interior Ministry controlled the police — of "administrative responsibility" for the disastrous fire riots of Jan. 30 which took 67 lives and caused millions of dollars worth of property damage.

Hassan has been accused by anti-Walidists of making a speech which "excited the population" the day of the riots.

Strong police detachments cordoned off the homes of the two men shortly after midnight. A scout took Serag el Din to El-Basra village and Hassan to El-Basra town, where they are being detained.

Both had been questioned by the prosecutor general during his investigation of the riots.

Political circles terms the arrests the "first major blow" aimed by the independent government of Premier Ahmed Naguib Hilaly Pasha against the Walidist party, which ruled Egypt for two years before King Farouk ousted it after the Cairo riot.

Lady Mountbatten Says No Politics

Seoul, Korea, March 18 (AP)—Lady Mountbatten said today her tour of Korea has nothing to do with politics.

"I came here in the capacity of a Red Cross and St. John's Ambulance Society official," she told a news conference.

"I'm interested only in nursing, medical, welfare and civil assistance activities. I want to make this very clear."

The wife of Lord Louis Mountbatten said she found "everything first class," with hospital units from India, Denmark, Norway, Sweden and Italy.

She plans to go to Pusan, temporary South Korean capital, then on to Seoul.

Some radio tubes are so small that workers must use microscopes to assemble them.

When New England farmers clear their land, they often piled loose stones found in the fields at the edges of the fields as fences.

Thousands of miles of these stone fences are still in place.

The wings of a bat are supported by bones which correspond to those of the fingers of a man's hand.

Bats are not birds but mammals with fur and teeth who have young born alive and nurse at the breast.
